

PRESS RELEASE from Bible Society NZ

Let the Word of God THRIVE Tukuna kia puāwai te Kupu a te Atua

Connect with God through this inspiring version of the Māori/English Bible.

On Friday 21 January 2022, Bible Society NZ will introduce a brand-new Māori/English bilingual Bible. "We are proud to present this inspiring edition which has side by side Māori and English text and is available in three beautiful covers to choose from" says Neels Janse van Rensburg. "The 1990s diglot was the 1952 Paipera Tapu text, together with the King James Version, however, the new translation now includes the New Revised Standard Version," adds Neels.

The Bibles launch will take place at the Holy Trinity Church in Gisborne and the proceedings will be overseen by Archbishop Don Tamihere, of Te Pihopatanga o Aotearoa.

We believe this-long-awaited edition will be popular with both te Reo speakers and those learning the language. It is presented in a range of stunning cover designs including a rich leather tukutuku weaved cross version, to colourful red and green covers with a mirroring koru, representing the two languages and their relationship with each other.

Māori / NRSV Diglot Imitation Leather RED (400 copies at $74.99 each)
Māori / NRSV Diglot Bonded Leather Black (200 copies at $79.99 each)
Māori / NRSV Diglot Hard Cover Dark Green (600 copies at $69.99 each)

With an inspiring introduction from Te Pihopatanga o Aotearoa, Rev. Don Tamihere, this edition will become a favourite for many Christians across Aotearoa.
